

Do you want to shape the future of HIV research? Your voice matters.

Together, we believe that change is possible through community engagement in HIV research.

To better represent communities affected by HIV, we're looking for perspectives of:

- Young adults (18-35)
- LatinX folks
- LGBTQ+ folks
- PrEP users

Duke Collaborative Community Council (D3C) Members:

- Are compensated
- Don't need any research experience
- Come to 90-minute meetings every other month
- Join optional research consultations
- Help with community outreach

For more details and to apply, scan the QR code or visit:

<https://tinyurl.com/applyD3C>

Priority deadline January 31, 2025

Duke Collaborative Community Council

D3C Member Responsibilities

- Attend D3C meetings once every other month (hybrid on Zoom & in Durham). We meet on Fridays from 1:30-3pm.
- As available: Join compensated, 45-minute research consultation calls and community outreach events.

Member Benefits

- Join a supportive and engaged network of advocates, community representatives, and thought leaders
- Help shape HIV-related research at Duke and make sure the community benefits from the latest findings on HIV prevention, care, and well-being
- Have your voice heard at planning meetings, HIV research events, conferences, and community events
- Attend workshops and events to have your voice heard, advance your professional development, and build skills in HIV research and community engagement
- Receive monetary compensation for your time & expertise

For more details and to apply, visit:
<https://tinyurl.com/applyD3C>